Did you know:

“European Journal of Epidemiology” found that among 1.5 million people living in buildings with four or more floors, mortality from all causes was higher for people living on the ground floor compared to those living on higher floors. Indeed, the study found that mortality from cardiovascular and respiratory diseases declined considerably the higher one’s floor of residence.

“Several studies suggest that a key factor driving high-rise dwellers’ health is air quality. In contrast, residents on higher-level floors typically enjoy cleaner air. When high-rises are set back from the street and surrounded by open green spaces, the benefits are even greater”

The latest pictures of the progress at site will give you an insight into the actual work that has been accomplished.
